

Update on GIPS Handbook Errors

As requested at the EC Meeting 23 June: “The GIPS Secretariat will present the running list of errors from the GIPS Handbook for review at the EC September meeting.”

To date, no material errors have been identified in the second edition of the GIPS Handbook. The only errors noted to date are insignificant and are typographical in nature (see table below). These errors do not justify public dissemination via an errata sheet and a list is being maintained for correction in the next printing of the Handbook.
